To Surface Transportation Board:

I strongly support the development of the Great Redwood Trail from San Francisco to Humboldt Bay. I vehemently oppose the reactivation of the rail line for freight traffic in general and for coal transport in specific. The Eel River Valley cannot geologically sustain the amount of rail traffic needed to be economically viable. The planet cannot sustain the transport and burning of coal. We are in losing race to ward off the worst of climate change. It is unconscionable to be extracting, moving and burning coal.

Thank you,

Cathy Chandler-Klein, MFT
