

A portion of the proposed project area falls within an EPA Superfund site (see maps provided). The Federal Projects Unit is unaware of any specific CERCLA requirements or stipulations that would prevent a Union Pacific Railroad rail line construction; however, there are ongoing remedial investigations and remediation to contaminants of concern released at the former Williams Air Force Base Superfund site. ADEQ has concerns that the proposed project area does fall within this area and of any potential impacts the project may pose to the Superfund Site such as intrusive activities or ground disturbance within or in close proximity of the Superfund site boundary and advises to directly contact EPA or the Air Force as the lead Federal agencies overseeing the Superfund remedial activities.

