Withdrawal of City of Jersey City, et al's Motion to Compel Consolidated Rail Corporation (Conrail)
To Make Available the Files of Ryan and Fiorilla and Related Depositions and Materials, and To the Extent Necessary to Reopen, Reconsider and/or Clarify Conrail's Document Discovery Obligations

City of Jersey City, Rails to Trails Conservancy, and Pennsylvania Railroad Harsimus Stem Embankment Preservation Coalition ("City et al") hereby withdraw their "Motion to Compel Consolidated Rail Corporation (Conrail) To Make Available the Files of Ryan and Fiorilla and Related Depositions and Materials, and To the Extent Necessary to Reopen, Reconsider and/or Clarify Conrail's Document Discovery Obligations," which was part of City et al's "Protective Appeal/Petition to Reopen" filed on 2 February 2017.

Conrail, without admission of any failure to make discovery or obligation to make more discovery, has represented to City et al that it is not aware of any Ryan or Fiorilla documents in its possession, including documents relating to regulatory status, that Conrail was required to provide City et al but did not, and that it will voluntarily make available the deposition transcripts of Ryan and Fiorilla in Chicago Title v. Consolidated Rail Corporation, Dkt. No. HUD-L-5801-09 (5), when those become available to Conrail. City et al accept Conrail's representation. As agreed, City et al therefore withdraw as unnecessary and as moot their motion to compel and for related relief, as set forth at pp. 1-2 (item "(2)") and pp. 6-12 (Part II) of their pleading filed 2 February 2017.

The protective appeal/petition to reopen embodied at p.1 (item "(1)") and at pp. 2-6 (Part I) is not withdrawn. If the Board grants the relief sought by Mr. Riffin in his interlocutory appeal, then City et al should be allowed discovery against Riffin, 212 Marin Boulevard, et al, and possibly other parties for the reasons stated at pp. 2-6 of City et al's protective appeal/petition to reopen.

Respectfully submitted,
