To whom it may concern:

I am offended by and completely oppose the GLBT railroad proposal. It blatantly denies hundreds of citizens their equal rights while it demonstrates that the power and wealth of a few is more important than that of the majority. That is, in and of itself, unlawful. Worse yet, it mocks those of us who honestly make a living. My land rights the land itself should not be subject to such bullying by people whose greed so obviously reeks of rotten intentions.

I do not know how this proposal is even possible in this day and age. This is not the wild west and we are not laying rail to facilitate the establishment of settlements across the country. We do not need to move cattle to distribute beef, nor do we need it to distribute oil, waste, or any other freight. It just is not worth destroying the land, lives, hopes and dreams of the people who saved, borrowed, sacrificed and love the land that is at hand.

The investors dreams are not more important than mine or my neighbors. In fact, in a true bureaucracy the many would outweigh the few and there would be no debate. Moreover, the investor's dreams have certainly already come true. Why do they need more than they have at hundreds of people's expense - thousands of acres of farmland, wildlife, water sources? Capitalism seems to be our ruling party and ladder climbing our national sport. Enough is enough.
