Please do not pass this proposal about railbeds. The Rails to Trails movement in USA has created an amazing recreational trail system and the trail just down the road from me has been a huge positive in my rural area. More and more people are using it as an alternative to walking or biking along the roadways (only about 2% of area has sidewalks). It is safer for both the person/family/pets out exercising. It is also safer for those who drive vehicles on the roads as they don't crest a hill to find a pedestrian. Users of the potential new trails need your foresight to allow those new trails to be built. The abandoned railbeds should be available for groups like Rail to Trails to install safe trails for public use. Thank you for considering my opinion.
