My last trip to the salon cost over $170, more than the value of the Great Lakes Basin Transportation company's net worth. If a company is not worth more than a day at the salon they can not afford a $2,8 to $8 billion rail project. Please deny their request, I have chipped enough nails writing letters to you regarding this project and it is time for it to end. The public does not deserve to be further harassed by a company that has essentially no value and a company that can not even complete an application correctly the first time.
