The Great Lakes Basin project has failed to show any public necessity for their route. Their route does not eliminate any train traffic for anyone outside the ring the line creates, so 99.9% of the country still has the same number of trains, it does not even eliminate train traffic in the city itself, in fact by their own admission they may add capacity which means the city residents will get even more trains than they have now. The route has no public use, it is not a rail line going someplace new, as in Amtrak is not using this line, and the line does not even plan to allow public transportation to use it, so the train traveling public is not benefited by the line. The current railroads appear to have no benefit as not one supports the line. Finally there is no educational, social, economic or environmental benefits for the general public. This route only helps out the GLBT owners and no one else and they have failed to show otherwise. I am asking for an immediate denial of their route.
