Mr. DeMaa -

The route proposed by Great Lakes Basin Transportation ends northeast of Milton, WI at the Wisconsin and Southern Railroad line.

We have some resources on a web site that the Surface Transportation Board launched for our environmental review process. That website is:

<http://www.greatlakesbasinraileis.com/index.html>

If you go to the "Maps" page and click on "Detailed Map 15" you can see where the proposed route ends (note the unconventional orientation of the map with north pointed to your left). Here is a direct link to Map 15:

Subject: Great Lakes Basin Transportation proposed rail line

Good morning Dave,

I received a correspondence this morning regarding the proposed GLBT railroad. In reviewing the proposal and information posted on their website, it does not appear that the line has any intentions of extending north of Milton, WI at this time. Have you been provided with any information confirming that to be true? I appreciate your time and look forward to your response.

Thanks,
