Ms. Gattis -

The document issued by the Surface Transportation Board (STB) on the March 29, 2011 was the Final Environmental Impact Statement, or Final EIS. Although formal public comment periods and public hearings are not required for Final EISs, members of the public and other agencies are free to submit written comments. There is no deadline, per se, for such comments. However, it is at the agency's discretion whether to consider comments that may be received before a Final Decision is issued in a case.

If you would like to submit written comments, you may address them to me at the following address:

Surface Transportation Board
Docket No. FD 35095
395 E Street, SW
Washington, DC 20423

I believe that the "open house" referred to in your email is being sponsored and run by the Alaska Railroad. Our agency has no connection with this open house.

Thanks,

"Lynn Gattis" I have searched the EIS (maybe I missed it) and... 04/06/2011 09:07.20 PM

Subject: Point Mackenzie Rail EIS

I have searched the EIS (maybe I missed it) and have contacted the Mat Su Borough as well as the Railroad and HDR for the "public comment" dates as well as where to send them. At this time There is only an open house to explain the EIS

Question:

Is there public comment on the current eis and the Record of decision? Or is public comment over?
