Mr. Lazorik -

You can find detailed mapping of the route proposed by the Great Lakes railroad folks on a project website that the Surface Transportation Board (STB) has launched for our environmental review process. Here is a link to the home page of our project website:

<http://www.greatlakesbasinraileis.com/index.html>

Click on the "Maps" button in the left-hand column and that will take you to some mapping resources including detailed mapping using a free software program called Google Earth. The Maps page includes instructions on how to download the software. Later today will add new maps to this page that won't require the use of Google Earth.

Thanks,

Dave

Subject: Railway

Dave,

I am just hearing about the railway going through Porter County, today, April 7, 2016. I own 100 acres just south of the Wolfe farm on route 2 in Hebron. I have not been able to find a map distinguishing the route of the railway, but I am opposed to it running on or near my farm. There are is an abandoned railway line that used to run through Porter County, why is that not the proposed site?

Cordially,

John Lazorik
