APPENDIX J

ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE

Appendix J provides additional information on environmental justice populations along the Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection.

J.1 MINORITY AND LOW-INCOME POPULATIONS

Table J.1-1 presents U.S. Census data regarding minority populations for census block groups within approximately 100 feet of the Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection. Table J.1-2 presents U.S. Census data regarding low-income populations for the same census block groups. However, the total population values for minority and low-income populations are different. The minority population is determined from the 2010 Census whereas the low-income population is determined from the 2012 American Community Survey 5-year estimates (with 2008-2012 data). In addition, the 2010 Census figures are for the total population; the income data presented in the American Community Survey is for the population for whom poverty status is determined.

J.2 MEANINGFULLY GREATER MINORITY AND LOW-INCOME POPULATIONS

The Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection traverse eight counties—Marion, Hancock, Madison, Delaware, and Randolph counties in Indiana; Darke and Shelby counties in Ohio; and Jefferson County in Kentucky. For the purposes of this analysis, the study area is defined as U.S. Census block groups that are adjacent to, or within approximately 100 feet of, the Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection. These census block groups are shown in the figures in Attachment J-1.

In accordance with Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) guidance (1997) that the study area be compared to an “appropriate unit of geographic analysis,” the population within the study area was compared to the eight counties in which the study area is located to determine if the minority and low-income populations of the study area are meaningfully greater than the minority and low-income population percentages, respectively, in the general population. For this analysis, “meaningfully greater” refers to one standard deviation from a standard normal distribution curve; that is, approximately 34 percent. Consequently, if the percentage of minority or low-income populations of a census block group was determined to be 34 percent or higher than the percentage in the eight-county area traversed by the Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection, it was noted as meaningfully greater than the general population.

The minority population of the eight-county area traversed by the Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection is approximately 27.79 percent of the total population. To identify meaningfully greater minority populations, the threshold is 37.25 percent or greater of the total population (that is, 27.79 percent increased by 134 percent equals 37.25 percent). The minority population in the entire study area is approximately 23.23 percent of the total population. Of the 133 census block groups in the study area, 32 census block groups (24 percent) were identified as having a meaningfully greater minority population than the general population of the eight-county area, as shown in Table J.1-1 and Attachment J-1.

The low-income population of the eight-county area traversed by the Indianapolis Line Subdivision, Indianapolis Terminal Subdivision – Louisville Secondary Branch, and Louisville Connection is approximately 17.44 percent of the total population. The threshold for identifying meaningfully greater low-income populations was determined in a manner similar to the process used to determine the threshold for meaningfully greater minority populations; that is, the percentage of low-income population in the eight-county area (17.44 percent) was increased by 134 percent, which equals 23.37 percent. Consequently, meaningfully greater low-income populations were identified as census block groups where the low-income population is 23.37 percent or greater of the total population. The low-income population within the entire study area is approximately 22.07 percent of the total population. Of the 133 census block groups in the study area, 54 census block groups (41 percent) were identified as having a meaningfully greater low-income population than the general population of the eight-county area, as shown in Table J.1-2 and Attachment J-1.
