Transcript:

My main comment is I believe the railroad structure around Chicago and I believe most major cities has to be improved either with viaducts, or bridgways, or doing something, you can't have these railroads crossing all those streets it ties up traffic way too much. With the high price of gas now, something has to be done. It may not be the best idea to be selling the railroad, but if they're going to sell them to improve the flow of traffic, it has to be done. Pretty soon gas is gonna be $8 a gallon, you can't have thousands of cars backed up waiting for freight trains to pull through. If these people are going to come in and they're going to be able to do something to reroute the traffic, or reroute the railroad, or put in the millions of dollars or to build bridges so that they, or overpasses. It has to be done. Railroads were put in 150 years ago, times have changed. It's expensive, but it has to be done. Thank you
