Mr. Navecky,

I thought the board was REQUIRED to make a decision by December 1, 2010.

Now you say "Sometime this winter?"

So I guess the property owners along the one remaining route, the taxpayers who have their lives and livelihood tied up by this 4 year study, are going to get strung along a while longer.

----- And you know the sad part of it David is this line will probably never get built. They don't have the financing and this is the third "study" for the line this decade. Just a convenient way to siphon off oil money and get it in people's pockets.

So I'm just venting and I apologize. It won't do a damn bit of good and I do thank you for your response.

I guess this is all just job security for you bureaucrats - but you're getting in other people's rice bowls here.
