La Festa Italiana Attendees Ask the Surface Transportation Board to Preserve the Harsimus Branch, AB_167_1189_X

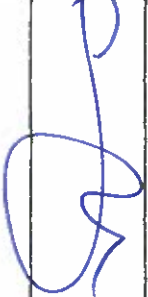

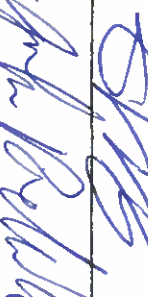

La Festa Italiana is a 113-year-old street festival that continues traditions of Italian immigrants who settled in Downtown Jersey City's Village section. Our history and traditions are threatened by the proposed demolition of the Pennsylvania Railroad Harsimus Branch.

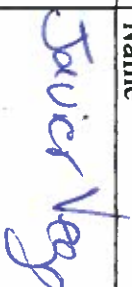

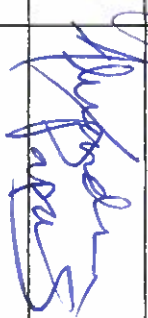

The Italian Village developed loosely between the Pennsylvania Railroad main passenger line running down Rail Road Avenue (now Columbus Drive) and the PRR's Harsimus Branch, which runs beside the Harsimus Cemetery, where many Italian residents of the Village are buried, and then parallels Sixth Street. Important streets in the Village include Brunswick Street (once known as Bushel Avenue for the many Italian vendors who lined it), and Monmouth Streets.

Holy Rosary Church, the first Italian parish in New Jersey, is located on Sixth Street between Monmouth and Brunswick. The festival is held on this block between the circa 1902 Church, built by Italian parishioners at 5 cents a brick, and the circa 1902 stone Embankment.

The festival is held annually in August and is associated with the Feast of the Assumption and St. Rocco masses and street processions. The Feast traditions extend back centuries in Italy and are thought to retain elements from pre-Christian traditions. Thousands attend the festival and processions each year, with many former residents returning to participate.

If the Branch and the Embankment are disassembled, demolished, and replaced with residential construction, we do not see how our traditions can continue. Please preserve our history and cultural traditions by preserving the Branch.

La Festa Italiana Attendees

Ask the Surface Transportation Board to Preserve the Harsimus Branch, AB_167_1189_X

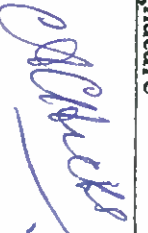

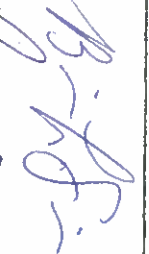

La Festa Italiana is a 113-year-old street festival that continues traditions of Italian immigrants who settled in Downtown Jersey City's Village section. Our history and traditions are threatened by the proposed demolition of the Pennsylvania Railroad Harsimus Branch.

The Italian Village developed loosely between the Pennsylvania Railroad main passenger line running down Rail Road Avenue (now Columbus Drive) and the PRR's Harsimus Branch, which runs beside the Harsimus Cemetery, where many Italian residents of the Village are buried, and then parallels Sixth Street. Important streets in the Village include Brunswick Street (once known as Bushel Avenue for the many Italian vendors who lined it), and Monmouth Streets.

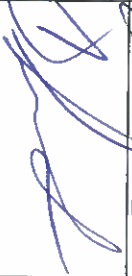

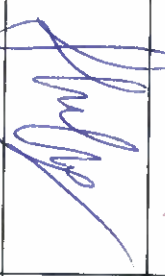

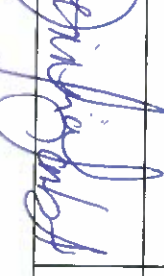

Holy Rosary Church, the first Italian parish in New Jersey, is located on Sixth Street between Monmouth and Brunswick. The festival is held on this block between the circa 1902 Church, built by Italian parishioners at 5 cents a brick, and the circa 1902 stone Embankment.

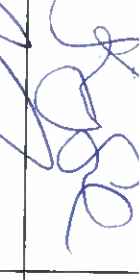

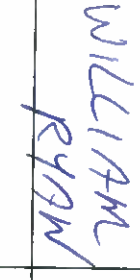

The festival is held annually in August and is associated with the Feast of the Assumption and St. Rocco masses and street processions. The Feast traditions extend back centuries in Italy and are thought to retain elements from pre-Christian traditions. Thousands attend the festival and processions each year, with many former residents returning to participate.

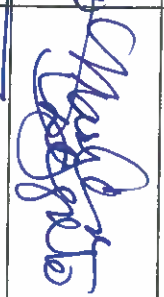

If the Branch and the Embankment are disassembled, demolished, and replaced with residential construction, we do not see how our traditions can continue. Please preserve our history and cultural traditions by preserving the Branch.
