Dear Mr Narecky,

I am an 81 year old senior man living in Crothersville Indiana. I live within 2 blocks of the RR and I drive a senior citizen van around town - so I think I have some knowledge of the situation. I also drove a school bus for 13 years in Seymour, In., the next town to the north. No doubt there are times when the crossings are a pain, but I have always thought the RR should be kept in top shape. I didn't like it when they discontinued passenger service. And as for Columbus' old bridge - what good is a bridge if it can't be used to the fullest extent?

I think we should keep our modes of transportation open in every aspect. We need that as a nation, as a state, and as a small community. A possibility exists all the time for a disaster of some form to close down a major highway or airports or even the RR. Then you, I believe we should keep all means of transportation open and ready to do their best!

Sincerely
James H. Dailey
