I am on whole not in favor of the acquisition of CNP to acquire the EJ&E. Um, it would devastate the local economy, in terms of the amount of time to get to the north end of town. I live on the south end of New Lennox and to get to work, which I take the train, however I would be in favor of the merger if CNP, Canadian National I mean, would actually improve, at least in one town, every town being affected an overpass where it, you know, would build an overpass over an existing railroad crossing, so residents could get to the north or south or east or west, depending on location of, you know, the road to that part of town, just to arbitrarily increase, you know, freight traffic by 40%, you know, 20 minute delay I would miss my train for work, I would, you know, severely impact my uh ability to keep my job, so on a whole I'm not for it, unless Canadian National were to improve the crossings. That's all I have to say. Thank you
