

Attention Dave Navecky & Surface Transportation Board

I am a concerned landowner. We farm the land & raise animals to sale. We are Parents and Grandparents. As a Farmer (concerned about the soil & our water) we prepare for spill emergencies. What kind of plan does Great Lakes Basin Transportation have in place? Jim Wilson, president of the Great Lakes Basin Transportation states in case of a derailment, spill or a leak, it's a lot easier to evacuate two or three families than several thousand people. I take it Jim Wilson has not come to Rock County. Where along the proposed route is there only two or three families that would only be affected. And who would be doing the evacuation? Everyone of us has wells that could be affected by a spill. Who will pay for this? The route proposed has many curves and at 70 M.P.H.. It is a disaster waiting to happen. Emergency personnel in our area are volunteer. Who will pay for their needed training - in case of spills and/or derailments.
