Message: This morning (10/27) a CN freight train traveling northbound through Barrington at 7:20am delayed my inbound Metra commuter train for 10+ minutes. This delay caused me and the other 1000+ passengers to be 20 minutes late arriving in Chicago. I imagine that the subsequent Metra trains also experienced delays due to this CN train. This is why the STB never should have allowed CN to increase freight traffic on the tiny EJE line. What is the economic waste of delaying thousands of commuters (workers) like this?
