I am an enrolled member of the Northern Cheyenne Tribe. I was raised traditionally, and was taught through our prayers to respect all living things. This especially pertains to plant life, which every living thing needs to prosper. Then that goes without saying that the water is need above all for life.

I see Coal mining as the enemy of all living things. It will destroy lives also in more ways than one. We all see the disruption of lives in Ft. Belknap.

At the end of all this destruction and the monies gone, and the earth is exhausted from her wounds then what? Each of us will die, and how will we answer to our Creator when he asks what we did with the gifts he gave us. I will continue to pray for those that have the power to adopt cleaner resources. wind energy, solar power.....
