Transcript:

There are two sets of railroad tracks that are near my home that have long freight trains that come by several times a day and sometimes you get caught in between. There's like no way out and you're left sitting. The longest I have waited has been about an hour. That's very disruptive, especially when it's early in the morning when you are trying to get to work or in the evening when you are just trying to get around town like to get, oh, two blocks from my home to get to the Community Center. I have sat and waited like 40 minutes and missed more than half of the class I was going to. So, you know, I would appreciate it if those tracks could take the freight trains or they could be sold to Canadian National or whoever and those trains could go to less populated areas cause it's disruptive to normal everyday activities here in South Holland, IL. I have lived here 21 years and it really has become quite problematic. Thank you very much.
