Transcript:

I am in favor of the trains being rerouted around, less residential areas with fewer homes because it is a distraction, it holds up traffic, it sometimes I have to go many miles out of my way to get around, or go back to the expressways, which if depending on the day, sometimes its backed up. There are tracks at 170th, probably that might be along Park Avenue or something like that, in South Holland and sometimes the trains stops there and sits there, 170th is a main street. If I go some other way, I have to go through the Village of Dalton, there are several train tracks there and sometimes four trains pass before I can get down to the city. If I don't take the Bishop Ford Expressway, then I have to go all the way to Halstead to get out away from that. So I am in favor of the, some of the trains being rerouted into less congested areas. Thank you
