My name is Cole Yada and I am opposed to the DM&E Expansion Project. I live on a ranch that I am the fifth generation to be raised there and make this my way of life.

I have trouble understanding the DEIS since there are so many places that are not organized for me to see the charts and graphs with what they are trying to explain. And then I have trouble understanding the charts because they blend into each other because it is all black.

Also there are places that it states that no businesses are affected when it goes across all of those ranches in Wyoming. Since when is ranching not a business? All ranchers have to file income taxes as businesses. All ranchers have some kind of labor costs, trucking costs, expansion costs, inventory, and other marketing costs. Does that not sound like a business? And if the railroad crosses any of these ranches it will affect a business.

I would like to see the DEIS get another 180 days minimum added for the comment period. I also reserve the right to make further comments on this DEIS.
